Aim: This aim of this masterclass is to discuss the evidence base for established and new oral anticoagulants and the impact of the introduction of the new oral anticoagulants on practice.

Learning Outcomes:

At the end of this masterclass, participants will be able to:

- Compare and contrast the evidence for established and new oral anticoagulants in treatment of Venous Thromboembolism and Atrial Fibrillation
- Appropriately tailor counselling to the oral anticoagulant
- Outline the factors to take into account when managing oral anticoagulation therapy in the patient receiving single or dual antiplatelet therapy
